

RELENTLESS WAR TO BE WAGED ON VICE CONDITIONS

Conflict To Be Carried To Every Part of City By Social Morality Campaign

MEMBERS OF COMMITTEE OUTLINE GREAT PLANS

Public Meetings and Education To Be Levers By Which the Work Is To Be Done

Outlining a comprehensive campaign of social, moral and political reform, aimed at the root of vice conditions in Honolulu, the Social Morality Campaign Organization Committee, at a meeting in the library of Hawaii last night, decided to call a public meeting in the near future to lay before the citizens of the community the vice problem of the city.

Broad in scope and of intensive power, the campaign will be directed along educational, economic, political, social and moral lines, for the purpose of attacking every angle of the vice situation.

Twice and its problems will be the starting point from which will be developed a war on vice that will be carried to every part of the community.

Work To Be Pushed.
The Social Morality Campaign Organization Committee has been subdivided into a number of committees. These committees were named last night and work will be pushed forward at once. One committee will handle the public meetings, one will care for the publicity and the finance of the work, another will look after church meetings, and others will care for fallen women who are in deplorable circumstances, carry on an educational campaign, and provide the machinery for carrying on the work in other directions.

From the pulpit, through the press, by public gatherings, by education, a bitter and relentless war will be waged on vice conditions.

The meeting last night was presided over by Bishop Rostorick and the Rev. J. P. Erdman acted as secretary.

Care For the Women

The first problem discussed was the need of providing medical attention and care for the women driven from Iwilei. After discussion as to the advisability of providing a home for women formerly living in Iwilei or raising funds for care of those addicted to the drug habit, it was decided that the most effective and immediate relief could be provided through the assistance of the associated charities, offered to give immediate attention to the needs of any women, who are in deplorable circumstances or in need of medical attention as the result of the closing of Iwilei.

The meeting then took up the heat means of launching the reform campaign. The consensus of opinion was that public meetings, to arouse the public conscience and stir up public interest and enthusiasm, was the first and most necessary step in the campaign. A motion was adopted calling such a public meeting in the near future, the date to be decided later.

The Rev. Mr. Erdman pointed out that several public meetings had been held before the legislature meets.

Star Public Sentiment

"We must stir up and keep stirred up the public sentiment on this vice issue," said Mr. Erdman, "or the work thus far accomplished will come to naught."

"It is a disgrace to the community that this thing is left to the ministers. It is up to every man in the community. The men of the city certainly approve our plans, they are interested enough in seeing reform accomplished, but they are not ready to do anything."

COMMITTEE CONTINUES ITS PROBE OF VICE

Carrying on its systematic work of obtaining all the information possible on the subject, the chamber of commerce vice committee met again yesterday behind closed doors and heard a number of frank statements from City Attorney A. M. Brown and Deputy City Attorney Charles P. Chillingworth.

Both these officials, stated W. R. Farrington, after the meeting, talked freely on the subject and gave the committee a lot of valuable information concerning the traffic in vice in Honolulu. The subjects of gambling and the use of narcotics also were gone into carefully.

It had been the committee's intention to have Judge J. M. Monsarrat appear before them and help them in their deliberations, but the jurist declined to be present on the score that as a judge he could not be expected to appear. A letter, however, was written to Monsarrat, explaining that he probably misunderstood the intention of the committee, which was to obtain information and not to act as critics or censors of public officials.

In explaining why the meetings were held behind closed doors, W. R. Farrington stated that this was decided upon in order that there might be no misconception of the purpose of the committee's work. Full stenographic reports of the meetings are being made, and with these as a basis the committee will make a full report of its findings.

ALPHA KEE NOT OF PAGEANT IN EAST

Fete Given In Massachusetts By Women's Foreign Missionary
Societies' Summer School

Hawaii's word of peace and love, "aloha," was one of the features of a symbolic pageant enacted at Northfield, Massachusetts, recently, at the summer school for women's foreign missionary societies. There were over twelve hundred delegates at the session, of whom half were girls, who occupied tents on the campus.

The keynote of the week of meetings was peace, and after several days' meeting, in which missionary work in foreign fields was studied, the pageant, called "Peace and War," was presented. Young women acted as the spirit of war, Columbia greets the forty-eight States, each in symbolic costume. It was in the climax of the pageant that the word "aloha" held the center of the outdoor stage, in view of the 2500 spectators.

LIVE LION TO BE ONE FEATURE OF CARNIVAL CIRCUS

Bringing the only live lion ever shipped to the Hawaiian Islands, forty professional grooms and showmen performers will sail from San Francisco for Honolulu early in February in order to arrive here a week before the Mid-Pacific Carnival opens on the 10th of next month. They are the Carnival entertainers who were engaged by J. Cooper and E. K. Fernandez during a trip to the mainland last year. The lion will be in charge of a woman trainer, who has exhibited the animal and her feats of daring with the beast in almost every large city in the United States.

Included in the Carnival circus are eight big side shows and twenty other smaller ones, which will be exhibited at Ala Park during the Carnival week. The promoters of the enterprise declare that the twenty minor shows alone will be twice as large as were Carnival side shows shown last year.

Plans for the placing the shows on Ala Park and for the handling of the crowds have already been drawn. The eight big shows will form an egg-shaped circle clear around the park, from the hedge on the mauka end to King Street, and extend along the river bank and the Ewa side.

In the center of the park the twenty small shows will be grouped together, with the merry-go-round and a big dance hall at opposite ends. The dance hall will be forty feet wide and sixty feet deep, and octagonal in shape. It is planned to have dancing both afternoons and evenings.

The lion is not to be the only feature of the menagerie of a carnival circus. There will be a number of other strange trick and trained animals, and also freak and illusion exhibitions in the eight big shows, each of which will occupy a lot approximately sixty feet in depth and twenty feet wide. A laughable feature of the sideshows will be a "monkey speedway," where upon a miniature race track there will be frequent races with monkeys as drivers. The sort of mounts they will race has not been announced, as that is to be one of the laughable surprises of the speedway.

SEVENTEEN CORPORATIONS FINED FOR DELINQUENCY

Failure to file with the territorial treasurer statements of their year's business for 1915 resulted in seventeen Honolulu corporations being fined $100 each in the district court yesterday. Three others had already been similarly fined. The cases of eleven were continued and three were struck from the calendar because service had been made on the wrong person.

Those who were fined yesterday were:

Princess Bink, Ltd., Hawaii Railway Company, Ltd., Hawaiian Tobacco Plantation Company, Honolulu Dairyman's Association Company, Ltd., Clark Farm Company, Ltd., Art & Craft Shop Co., Ltd., Honolulu Electric Company, Ltd., Bell Clothing Company, Ltd., Hilo Wine & Liquor Co., Ltd., F. E. Davis & Co., Ltd., City Motor Company, Ltd., Chinese Development Company, Ltd., Pioneer Company, Ltd., Thomas A. O'Brien Company, Ltd., Hawaiian Transportation Company, Ltd., the Home Industry Cigar Company, Ltd., and the Hawaiian Gazette Company, Ltd.

Princess Bink, Ltd., Hawaii Railway Company, Ltd., Hawaiian Tobacco Plantation Company, Ltd., Clark Farm Company, Ltd., Art & Craft Shop Co., Ltd., Honolulu Electric Company, Ltd., Bell Clothing Company, Ltd., Hilo Wine & Liquor Co., Ltd., F. E. Davis & Co., Ltd., City Motor Company, Ltd., Chinese Development Company, Ltd., Pioneer Company, Ltd., Thomas A. O'Brien Company, Ltd., Hawaiian Transportation Company, Ltd., the Home Industry Cigar Company, Ltd., and the Hawaiian Gazette Company, Ltd.

The chief object of the committee," said Mr. Farrington, "is to obtain information. We are not acting as censors of the actions of others. But we desire to look at the question from all sides and get facts and views from all quarters. All this information eventually will be made public in our report. There really is nothing secret about the meetings, but some of the members believed that it would be better to give nothing out until the entire matter had been gone over carefully, when a full report could be made."

This report will be made to the directors of the chamber of commerce, and that body, if it finds the report warrants such an action, will call a public meeting and give the facts to the public to take such action as is thought best.

FORMER JUSTICE ARTHUR WILDER SHOOTS HIMSELF

ARTHUR ASHFORD WILDER, one of the most distinguished of the city's lawyers, who died by his own hand yesterday.

Working for three hours last night on the appropriations for the coming three months the board of supervisors passed the bill as prepared by the various committees with but slight changes and with few disputes. The only wrangling that ensued was occasioned by the proposal to make a donation of $250 a month for six months to the promotion committee, an extra appropriation for the Leahi home, and a proposed increase in the pay of the members of the fire department.

The promotion committee came in for some hard knocks and a few defenders among the municipal solons, the only member who had a good word for the promotionists being Supervisor Hollinger.

Following charges that the promotion committee should be called a knuckling committee, that its importance to Hawaii had been wildly overrated, that it was not as necessary as many had been taught to believe, and that much of its information is in essence ridiculous, and further that most of the publicity of Hawaii on the mainland had come through the railroad and steamship lines and from other sources in spite of the promotion committee, the board agreed to donate the sum of $1500, or $250 a month, at the end of June, provided there is any money left in the general fund after all other bills had been paid.

Further pilikia was aroused when it was proposed to increase the donation to the Leahi home from $900 to $1200 a month. In this scrimmage Supervisor Hollinger was the chief opponent to the proposed increase, and fought so hard that the matter was defeated. Hollinger declared that the cost of maintaining the inmates of the home was too high, and that the board was already paying too much towards the institution.

When Chief of the Fire Department Thurston came before the board to ask for an increase in the pay of his men, the matter was debated from all angles. Several of the supervisors appeared to believe that it would be a good thing to increase the pay of the men, but Supervisor Hatch was inexorable and declared that the present conditions of the finances would not permit of any raises in pay. Even the proposition to vote each of the men an increase of $5 a month was voted down.

On the other hand, the board was generous when the money was available, and did not hesitate to vote an increase of twenty-five dollars a month in the salary of Henry Freitas, building inspector. This money, however, comes out of the earnings of the department. In voting the increase the board expressed its appreciation of the efficient services that have been rendered by the building inspector.

Small Increases Made

Another increase in salary was made in the case of the plumbing inspector, whose salary was increased to $200 a month. Several small increases were also made in the salaries of the office clerks and the purchasing agent's office. The payroll of the city and county engineer was increased to $705 a month; increases were made in the district court, the electric light system and in the county jail.

The appropriations from the special school fund were made by a special resolution, and the sum of $81,100 was appropriated for the entire year. The money was divided as follows: New buildings, $12,100; repairs and maintenance, $17,500; furniture and fixtures, $7500; janitor service and supplies, $14,000.

to talk the matter over, but Judge Wilder refused to go to the National Capital. After the appointment of E. Pinkham as Governor Judge Wilder opposed him in many matters of public policy.

He was the plaintiff in several suits against Charles R. Forbes, superintendent of public works, growing out of Forbes' trip to Washington last year, and the expenses Forbes incurred. These suits are still pending in the courts. It is uncertain as to how his death at this time will affect them.

Recent of College

In addition to the supreme court justiceship, Wilder at various times held other public offices. He was appointed a member of the Honolulu park commission in 1912. In 1910 he was made a regent of the College of Hawaii, and in the same year was a candidate on the Democratic ticket for the legislature, but failed of election.

For many years Judge Wilder took an active interest in aquatic sports. He was a member of the Honolulu Boat Club, and as such aided materially in making Regatta Day the important occasion it now is in Honolulu.

Judge Wilder was a member of the Pacific Club and the University Club, and was also a member of Honolulu Lodge Number 21, Free and Accepted Masons.

Arrangements for the funeral are as yet only tentative, but it is probable that it will be held next Sunday, under Masonic auspices at the Masonic Temple, and that the body will be reinterred and the ashes deposited in the family plot at Nuanuan Cemetery.

Wilder had many activities in Hawaii and took an active interest in many lines of endeavor, including politics and sports. He was an ardent Democrat for many years, until the Democrats came into power on the mainland, being one of the few staunch Republicans of Hawaii. He was urged as a candidate for the governorship in 1913, and Secretary of the Interior Lane asked that he come to Washing-

SUPERVISORS CUT DOWN FUNDS FOR PROMOTION WORK

Decide To Give No More Money
From Treasury To Committee For Boosting

DECLARES BODY VASTLY
OVERESTIMATED BY CITY

Board Also Refuses To Increase
Pay of Firemen, But Gives
Freitas More Money

Working for three hours last night on the appropriations for the coming three months the board of supervisors passed the bill as prepared by the various committees with but slight changes and with few disputes. The only wrangling that ensued was occasioned by the proposal to make a donation of $250 a month for six months to the promotion committee, an extra appropriation for the Leahi home, and a proposed increase in the pay of the members of the fire department.

The promotion committee came in for some hard knocks and a few defenders among the municipal solons, the only member who had a good word for the promotionists being Supervisor Hollinger.

Following charges that the promotion committee should be called a knuckling committee, that its importance to Hawaii had been wildly overrated, that it was not as necessary as many had been taught to believe, and that much of its information is in essence ridiculous, and further that most of the publicity of Hawaii on the mainland had come through the railroad and steamship lines and from other sources in spite of the promotion committee, the board agreed to donate the sum of $1500, or $250 a month, at the end of June, provided there is any money left in the general fund after all other bills had been paid.

Further pilikia was aroused when it was proposed to increase the donation to the Leahi home from $900 to $1200 a month. In this scrimmage Supervisor Hollinger was the chief opponent to the proposed increase, and fought so hard that the matter was defeated. Hollinger declared that the cost of maintaining the inmates of the home was too high, and that the board was already paying too much towards the institution.

When Chief of the Fire Department Thurston came before the board to ask for an increase in the pay of his men, the matter was debated from all angles. Several of the supervisors appeared to believe that it would be a good thing to increase the pay of the men, but Supervisor Hatch was inexorable and declared that the present conditions of the finances would not permit of any raises in pay. Even the proposition to vote each of the men an increase of $5 a month was voted down.

On the other hand, the board was generous when the money was available, and did not hesitate to vote an increase of twenty-five dollars a month in the salary of Henry Freitas, building inspector. This money, however, comes out of the earnings of the department. In voting the increase the board expressed its appreciation of the efficient services that have been rendered by the building inspector.

Small Increases Made

Another increase in salary was made in the case of the plumbing inspector, whose salary was increased to $200 a month. Several small increases were also made in the salaries of the office clerks and the purchasing agent's office. The payroll of the city and county engineer was increased to $705 a month; increases were made in the district court, the electric light system and in the county jail.

The appropriations from the special school fund were made by a special resolution, and the sum of $81,100 was appropriated for the entire year. The money was divided as follows: New buildings, $12,100; repairs and maintenance, $17,500; furniture and fixtures, $7500; janitor service and supplies, $14,000.

to talk the matter over, but Judge Wilder refused to go to the National Capital. After the appointment of E. Pinkham as Governor Judge Wilder opposed him in many matters of public policy.

He was the plaintiff in several suits against Charles R. Forbes, superintendent of public works, growing out of Forbes' trip to Washington last year, and the expenses Forbes incurred. These suits are still pending in the courts. It is uncertain as to how his death at this time will affect them.

Recent of College

In addition to the supreme court justiceship, Wilder at various times held other public offices. He was appointed a member of the Honolulu park commission in 1912. In 1910 he was made a regent of the College of Hawaii, and in the same year was a candidate on the Democratic ticket for the legislature, but failed of election.

For many years Judge Wilder took an active interest in aquatic sports. He was a member of the Honolulu Boat Club, and as such aided materially in making Regatta Day the important occasion it now is in Honolulu.

Judge Wilder was a member of the Pacific Club and the University Club, and was also a member of Honolulu Lodge Number 21, Free and Accepted Masons.

Arrangements for the funeral are as yet only tentative, but it is probable that it will be held next Sunday, under Masonic auspices at the Masonic Temple, and that the body will be reinterred and the ashes deposited in the family plot at Nuanuan Cemetery.

WATER FRONT NEWS

Decide To Give No More Money
From Treasury To Commit-
tee For Boosting

DECLARES BODY VASTLY
OVERESTIMATED BY CITY

Board Also Refuses To Increase
Pay of Firemen, But Gives
Freitas More Money

Working for three hours last night on the appropriations for the coming three months the board of supervisors passed the bill as prepared by the various committees with but slight changes and with few disputes. The only wrangling that ensued was occasioned by the proposal to make a donation of $250 a month for six months to the promotion committee, an extra appropriation for the Leahi home, and a proposed increase in the pay of the members of the fire department.

The promotion committee came in for some hard knocks and a few defenders among the municipal solons, the only member who had a good word for the promotionists being Supervisor Hollinger.

Following charges that the promotion committee should be called a knuckling committee, that its importance to Hawaii had been wildly overrated, that it was not as necessary as many had been taught to believe, and that much of its information is in essence ridiculous, and further that most of the publicity of Hawaii on the mainland had come through the railroad and steamship lines and from other sources in spite of the promotion committee, the board agreed to donate the sum of $1500, or $250 a month, at the end of June, provided there is any money left in the general fund after all other bills had been paid.

Further pilikia was aroused when it was proposed to increase the donation to the Leahi home from $900 to $1200 a month. In this scrimmage Supervisor Hollinger was the chief opponent to the proposed increase, and fought so hard that the matter was defeated. Hollinger declared that the cost of maintaining the inmates of the home was too high, and that the board was already paying too much towards the institution.

When Chief of the Fire Department Thurston came before the board to ask for an increase in the pay of his men, the matter was debated from all angles. Several of the supervisors appeared to believe that it would be a good thing to increase the pay of the men, but Supervisor Hatch was inexorable and declared that the present conditions of the finances would not permit of any raises in pay. Even the proposition to vote each of the men an increase of $5 a month was voted down.

On the other hand, the board was generous when the money was available, and did not hesitate to vote an increase of twenty-five dollars a month in the salary of Henry Freitas, building inspector. This money, however, comes out of the earnings of the department. In voting the increase the board expressed its appreciation of the efficient services that have been rendered by the building inspector.

Small Increases Made

Another increase in salary was made in the case of the plumbing inspector, whose salary was increased to $200 a month. Several small increases were also made in the salaries of the office clerks and the purchasing agent's office. The payroll of the city and county engineer was increased to $705 a month; increases were made in the district court, the electric light system and in the county jail.

The appropriations from the special school fund were made by a special resolution, and the sum of $81,100 was appropriated for the entire year. The money was divided as follows: New buildings, $12,100; repairs and maintenance, $17,500; furniture and fixtures, $7500; janitor service and supplies, $14,000.

to talk the matter over, but Judge Wilder refused to go to the National Capital. After the appointment of E. Pinkham as Governor Judge Wilder opposed him in many matters of public policy.

He was the plaintiff in several suits against Charles R. Forbes, superintendent of public works, growing out of Forbes' trip to Washington last year, and the expenses Forbes incurred. These suits are still pending in the courts. It is uncertain as to how his death at this time will affect them.

Recent of College

In addition to the supreme court justiceship, Wilder at various times held other public offices. He was appointed a member of the Honolulu park commission in 1912. In 1910 he was made a regent of the College of Hawaii, and in the same year was a candidate on the Democratic ticket for the legislature, but failed of election.

For many years Judge Wilder took an active interest in aquatic sports. He was a member of the Honolulu Boat Club, and as such aided materially in making Regatta Day the important occasion it now is in Honolulu.

Judge Wilder was a member of the Pacific Club and the University Club, and was also a member of Honolulu Lodge Number 21, Free and Accepted Masons.

Arrangements for the funeral are as yet only tentative, but it is probable that it will be held next Sunday, under Masonic auspices at the Masonic Temple, and that the body will be reinterred and the ashes deposited in the family plot at Nuanuan Cemetery.

Wilder had many activities in Hawaii and took an active interest in many lines of endeavor, including politics and sports. He was an ardent Democrat for many years, until the Democrats came into power on the mainland, being one of the few staunch Republicans of Hawaii. He was urged as a candidate for the governorship in 1913, and Secretary of the Interior Lane asked that he come to Washing-

MARINE INTELLIGENCE By Merchants' Exchange

Decide To Give No More Money
From Treasury To Commit-
tee For Boosting

DECLARES BODY VASTLY
OVERESTIMATED BY CITY

Board Also Refuses To Increase
Pay of Firemen, But Gives
Freitas More Money

Working for three hours last night on the appropriations for the coming three months the board of supervisors passed the bill as prepared by the various committees with but slight changes and with few disputes. The only wrangling that ensued was occasioned by the proposal to make a donation of $250 a month for six months to the promotion committee, an extra appropriation for the Leahi home, and a proposed increase in the pay of the members of the fire department.

The promotion committee came in for some hard knocks and a few defenders among the municipal solons, the only member who had a good word for the promotionists being Supervisor Hollinger.

Following charges that the promotion committee should be called a knuckling committee, that its importance to Hawaii had been wildly overrated, that it was not as necessary as many had been taught to believe, and that much of its information is in essence ridiculous, and further that most of the publicity of Hawaii on the mainland had come through the railroad and steamship lines and from other sources in spite of the promotion committee, the board agreed to donate the sum of $1500, or $250 a month, at the end of June, provided there is any money left in the general fund after all other bills had been paid.

Further pilikia was aroused when it was proposed to increase the donation to the Leahi home from $900 to $1200 a month. In this scrimmage Supervisor Hollinger was the chief opponent to the proposed increase, and fought so hard that the matter was defeated. Hollinger declared that the cost of maintaining the inmates of the home was too high, and that the board was already paying too much towards the institution.

When Chief of the Fire Department Thurston came before the board to ask for an increase in the pay of his men, the matter was debated from all angles. Several of the supervisors appeared to believe that it would be a good thing to increase the pay of the men, but Supervisor Hatch was inexorable and declared that the present conditions of the finances would not permit of any raises in pay. Even the proposition to vote each of the men an increase of $5 a month was voted down.

On the other hand, the board was generous when the money was available, and did not hesitate to vote an increase of twenty-five dollars a month in the salary of Henry Freitas, building inspector. This money, however, comes out of the earnings of the department. In voting the increase the board expressed its appreciation of the efficient services that have been rendered by the building inspector.

Small Increases Made

Another increase in salary was made in the case of the plumbing inspector, whose salary was increased to $200 a month. Several small increases were also made in the salaries of the office clerks and the purchasing agent's office. The payroll of the city and county engineer was increased to $705 a month; increases were made in the district court, the electric light system and in the county jail.

The appropriations from the special school fund were made by a special resolution, and the sum of $81,100 was appropriated for the entire year. The money was divided as follows: New buildings, $12,100; repairs and maintenance, $17,500; furniture and fixtures, $7500; janitor service and supplies, $14,000.

to talk the matter over, but Judge Wilder refused to go to the National Capital. After the appointment of E. Pinkham as Governor Judge Wilder opposed him in many matters of public policy.

He was the plaintiff in several suits against Charles R. Forbes, superintendent of public works, growing out of Forbes' trip to Washington last year, and the expenses Forbes incurred. These suits are still pending in the courts. It is uncertain as to how his death at this time will affect them.

Recent of College

In addition to the supreme court justiceship, Wilder at various times held other public offices. He was appointed a member of the Honolulu park commission in 1912. In 1910 he was made a regent of the College of Hawaii, and in the same year was a candidate on the Democratic ticket for the legislature, but failed of election.

For many years Judge Wilder took an active interest in aquatic sports. He was a member of the Honolulu Boat Club, and as such aided materially in making Regatta Day the important occasion it now is in Honolulu.

Judge Wilder was a member of the Pacific Club and the University Club, and was also a member of Honolulu Lodge Number 21, Free and Accepted Masons.

Arrangements for the funeral are as yet only tentative, but it is probable that it will be held next Sunday, under Masonic auspices at the Masonic Temple, and that the body will be reinterred and the ashes deposited in the family plot at Nuanuan Cemetery.

Wilder had many activities in Hawaii and took an active interest in many lines of endeavor, including politics and sports. He was an ardent Democrat for many years, until the Democrats came into power on the mainland, being one of the few staunch Republicans of Hawaii. He was urged as a candidate for the governorship in 1913, and Secretary of the Interior Lane asked that he come to Washing-

HONOLULU STOCK EXCHANGE

Thursday, January 4, 1917.

STOCK

Mercantile
Alexander & Baldwin 290
C. Brewer & Co. 400

Sugar
Ewa Plantation Co. 34 3/4 33 3/4
Hauka Sugar Co. 245
Haw. Agr. Co. 47 1/2 47 1/2
Haw. Com'l Sugar 48 49 49 1/2
Haw. Sugar Co. 43 1/2
Honolulu Sugar Co. 12 9 10
Honolulu Sugar Co. 42 1/2 42 1/2
Hafenslager Sugar Co. 30 1/2 30 1/2
Kahuku Plant Co. 20 21
Kahuku Sugar Co. 215 225
Kolon Sugar Co. 213
McBryde Sugar Co. 12 1/2 12 1/2 12 1/2
Oahu Sugar Co. 31 1/2 30 1/2 30 1/2
Olan Sugar Co. 16 1/2 16 1/2 16 1/2
Onomua Sugar Co. 54 1/2 54 1/2 54 1/2
Pahoa Sugar Co. 19 1/2 20
Pain Plant Co. 235
Pepesque Sugar Co. 40 39 1/2 40
Pioneer Mill Co. 17 17 1/2
San Carlos Mill Co. 32 1/2 30 1/2 30 1/2
Wailuku Sugar Co. 37 1/2 30 30 1/2

Miscellaneous
Enlan Devel. Co. 1st Ass. 60% pd. 100
2nd Ass. 55% pd. 100
Hauka P. & P. Co. 19 1/2 19 1/2
Hauka P. & P. Co. 8 1/2 8 1/2 8 1/2
Haw. Com. Ry. 6% B. 2 1/2
Haw. Com. Ry. 2 1/2
Haw. Electric Co. 167 1/2 165
Haw. Pineapple Co. 57 1/2 57 1/2
Hon. Brew & Malt 16 17
Hon. Gas Co. 125 125
Hon. R. T. & L. Co. 143 143
L. S. Nav. Co. 195
Mutual Tel. Co. 20 20 1/2 20 1/2
O. R. & L. Co. 160 160
Pahoa Rubber Co. 10 10 1/2 10 1/2
Selama-Drainage, pd. 17
Selama-Drainage, (50% pd.) 10
Tanjong Olok Rub. 34 1/2 35

Bonds
Bench Walk Imp. 5 1/2 102
Hankuk Ditch 68
Haw. Com. Ry. 5% 85 1/2
Haw. Irr. Co. 80
Haw. Ter. 4s Ref. 1905 100
Haw. Ter. 4s pub. imp. 100
Haw. Ter. 1912-13 78 1/2
Haw. Ter. 7 1/2 98 1/2
Honolulu Sugar 90 90 1/2 90
Hon. Gas Co. 104 104
H. R. T. & L. Co. 102
Kahuku Ry. Co. 101
Mauna Imp. Dist. 5 1/2 100 1/2
McBryde Sugar 54 100
Mutual Tel. Co. 106 10